

LUNDS
UNIVERSITET

The Centre for Business Law at Lund University (ACLU)
invite you to the seminar

AI as an inventor in the UK, Australia and according to the EPO

The topic of IP protection of AI creations is an exciting topic of legal discussion. Who is the inventor and who owns a patent when the invention is the product of the activity of a Machine? For the last few years, patent offices and Courts around the globe have been considering how to deal with the inventions of Stephen Thaler's artificial intelligence (AI) system DABUS. This seminar will present and debate the arguments, outcomes, and legal perspectives on the DABUS litigation in three jurisdictions: The European Patent Office, the UK and Australia.

Introduction by Per Lidman, Partner, Setterwalls

Speakers

Gus Lightowlers, Patent Attorney, MinterEllison, Australia

Mark Marfé, Legal Director, Pinsent Masons, UK

Annika Wahrenberg, technically qualified member of the Boards of Appeal, EPO

Moderator

Ana Nordberg, Associate Professor at the Faculty of Law, Lund University

Date: Tuesday March 8th 2022 at 8.30-10.00 AM

Breakfast will be offered on site before the seminar from 08.00 AM

Location: : Rättegångssalen, Lilla Gråbrödersgatan 3C, Lund

The seminar will also be held over Zoom

Registration: www.aclu.lu.se

*STORT TACK till Sparbanken Skåne och dess ägarstiftelse Sparbanksstiftelsen Finn som genom generöst stöd möjliggjort detta
evenemang*

